ELECTRIC TRICYCLE (PRAGIA) FLEET • KUMASI, GHANA

THE EVERGREEN DRIVER MODEL

A structured, sustainable income framework for Electric Tricycle (Pragia) drivers — built on shared risk, guaranteed support, and performance-based reward.

What We'll Cover

01

Driver Onboarding & Regulations

Academy training, licensing, and daily operating rules.

02

The Zero-Risk Support Model

Company-covered supervision, repairs, and battery charging.

03

The Electric Advantage

How removing fuel costs changes driver economics.

04

Commission Structure Explained

How the 20% baseline commission is calculated.

05

Earning Potential by Performance

Monthly income across three sales tiers.

06

Benchmarking Against Salaried Roles

Evergreen income vs. teachers, nurses, and bank staff.

Evergreen's Regulations

The structured path every driver follows, from onboarding to payout.

Academy Training & Licensing

A potential driver attends Evergreen Academy and obtains an official operating license before joining the fleet.

Structured Operating Hours

Drivers work 12 hours daily, 6 days a week — a consistent 24 working days per month.

End-of-Day Accountability

The driver returns the tricycle to the park after every shift for inspection and safekeeping.

Commission Payout Cycle

Drivers can claim their 20% commission every two weeks, or on a monthly basis.

Company-Covered: Zero Risk for the Driver

Evergreen absorbs the operating costs that would normally sit on the driver.

Structured Supervision

Every driver, machine, and route operates under Evergreen's supervisors and owners.

All Repairs on Evergreen

Mechanical repair works are fully handled and financed by the company — not the driver.

Battery Charging on Evergreen

Daily battery charging costs are absorbed by Evergreen, not deducted from driver earnings.

THE DRIVER NEVER PAYS FOR

Fuel & Battery Charging

Except in extreme circumstances, all fuel and charging costs are removed from the driver's shoulders — protecting take-home income from unpredictable running costs.

The Old Way vs. The Evergreen Way

Removing fuel dependency changes the daily economics of the business entirely.

TRADITIONAL FUEL TRICYCLE

Example daily sales	GH¢ 130
Fuel cost (driver-funded)	GH¢ 100 / day
Repairs	Driver's responsibility
Daily operating burden	GH¢ 230 total

THE EVERGREEN ELECTRIC MODEL

Fuel cost to driver	GH¢ 0
Battery charging cost	GH¢ 0
Repairs cost	GH¢ 0 — on Evergreen
Daily operating burden	None

BASELINE MONTHLY COMMISSION

GH¢ 50 × 24 working days/month = GH¢ 1,200

This baseline commission is the guaranteed floor — performance bonuses (next slide) are added on top of this figure.

Earning Potential by Sales Performance

Base commission of GH¢ 1,200/month, plus a performance bonus tied to gross daily sales — over 24 working days.

Gross Daily Sales	Daily Bonus	Monthly Bonus (× 24 days)	Base Commission (/month)	Total Monthly Income
GH¢ 400	GH¢ 150	GH¢ 3,600	GH¢ 1,200	GH¢ 4,800
GH¢ 500	GH¢ 250	GH¢ 6,000	GH¢ 1,200	GH¢ 7,200
GH¢ 600	GH¢ 350	GH¢ 8,400	GH¢ 1,200	GH¢ 9,600

* Figures assume the driver meets or exceeds the strict daily sales threshold of GH¢ 250 required for the base commission.

How Evergreen Drivers Compare

Estimated monthly income ranges (GH¢) against common salaried professions in Ghana.

Evergreen Drivers reach up to GH¢ 9,600 / month — the highest ceiling of any role on this chart, with the lowest tier already competitive with salaried professionals.

Ranges reflect approximate published salary bands for teachers, nurses, and bank staff, compared with the Evergreen driver income tiers on the previous slide.
